

Brooke Felt Pottery

Bold, warm colored lively lines, shapes and forms are often found on my pots. There is an energy that is experienced in creating surface design. I appreciate uniquely functional pieces of my everyday life and hope to bring this to others. If a brightly colored mug brings a smile to a cup of morning coffee, then that is what I wish to give.

Most designs come from patterns and images found in nature and everyday experiences. Also, teaching art classes always brings unexpected inspirations. I record and re-live moments through painting the surfaces of the pots with the hope that other's share or bring similar experiences into their own daily lives.

All my pottery is dinner, food, dishwasher and oven-safe.
